

SOLOMONS' SECRETS AUDITIONS - CLIVE

CLIVE

You know I never wanted Roz to find out what happened. I made Helen and Josh swear never to tell her. Helen didn't want to, but I was so sure it would damage Roz. It put such a strain on our marriage. And look what it did to Josh. When he was a small boy he used to wear one of my old lab coats and a stethoscope around his neck. He'd follow me around all day and beg to come to work with me. He told everyone he was going to become a doctor just like his daddy. It stopped after the accident. After we asked him to keep it a secret he couldn't look at me any more. He buried himself in school work till it all fell apart in med school. I blame myself for that too. He has flailed about ever since. Lost. Sometimes I think it's a miracle any of us survived. And now Roz knows and the impact of this secret that's been eating me up for decades could be far worse than anything I imagined.